

Object of the Newsletter

To promote the appreciation of fine Scotch Whisky, the area from which it comes, the people that inhabit the land and its history. By the way, I do not profess to be an expert, I am merely expressing an opinion on the whiskies I am tasting.

I now look at Ardbeg Perpetuum, which I tried for the first time in the Albannach bar, near the top of the Royal Mile in Edinburgh, Scotland. I highly recommend this bar, if you are in the vicinity of the Royal mile, They have a superb selection of whiskies and there food is pretty good as well.

What about the whisky, Perpetuum was released to celebrate 200 years of distilling at Ardbeg, with that in mind, I'm a little disappointed with it.

Let me put that into perspective, Ardbeg have released some great Whiskies and I have written favorably about a number of them over the Years, and have bought them for my own bar. I particularly like 'Airigh Nam Beist' which I wish they would remake.

My problem with the Perpetuum is not that it's bad, it's not, it's not good enough. Come on!

You're celebrating 200 years of distilling, you have a track record for great whisky and the best you can come up with is this! Again it's OK, but they could and should have celebrated with something stunning, they are more than capable of it, as they have shown us numerous times in the past.

You can buy Ardbeg Perpetuum for around $120.00 a bottle.

Tasting Notes:

Nose - Smoky vanilla, treacle

Palate - Smoked (charred) grilled meat, some sweet fruit

Finish - Medium, grilled fruit & smoke
